Rights Of Westery Light & Power Co.

Called to Public Attention by Recent Tree Cases—Court Sessions in Pawcatuck—Disension Among Saloon Keepers—Probate Court Business—News in General

Although under its charter the Westery Light and Power company is given the right to open the streets for the purpose of laying and maintaining gas pipes, provided franchise to that effect is granted by the town council, the question has been raised that the local company has exceeded its authority in this respect. It is claimed that the town council has never granted the franchise privilege to open the streets and lay pipes, not only to the present company nor to the three or four that preceded, and that this work has been done by charter authority solely, and therefore not legally.

The present company can show no authority for laying and maintaining these pipes under town grant, but has continued the policy of preceding companies, whose rights were acquired by purchase.

When complaint came to the council of the alleged killing of trees by leaking gas, the council appointed a committee to investigate the company's liability for damage, and then the element of the case now in question was discovered. The services of Town Solicitor were considered necessary to probe the legal status, which will prove quite a task, as the company is uncertain whether the town council ever gave the present or any other gas company the right to lay pipes in the streets of Westery.

It will be necessary to search the records for a vote of the council for a period of nearly fifty years, as the records are without index. It is therefore a case of search on the part of the town solicitor, whose salary is $50 a month.

The town records are being indexed, the start of necessity being with the earliest records, and it will be a long time before the records of the past half century will be reached by the indexer engaged in the work at annual intervals, the length being measured by the size of the appropriation for that special work. While the council has suggested that Attorney Agard make report on that point at the January meeting, it is believed to be a physical impossibility.

As to the damaged trees, the Westery Light and Power company is inclined to act squarely and will probably remove such trees as were killed by leaking gas and replace them with new trees, but would probably not willingly pay cash for alleged damages.

Concession is not made that all the trees that have died along the pipe lines were destroyed by leaking gas, and to determine that point experts from the Rhode Island and Connecticut Agricultural colleges have made examination and filed their report with the company. This report will not be given to the public until after it has been formally presented at a meeting of the directors of the company. It will be shown, however, that in several instances trees died from other causes than by leaking gas, and whatever defects that might have existed have been remedied.

Justice Warren Randall of Pawcatuck will hold two court sessions this week. Today (Wednesday) the case of Elizabeth Roberts against Benjamin Heath is set for trial, in which plaintiff seeks to recover for boat bill, the Eldridge Construction company being garnished. The damage is placed at $100.

On Friday the action of John E. Perry against Frank Pollock will be heard. This is a suit to recover on a book account, with damages placed at $100.

All is not harmony among those who favored liquor licenses in the recent town election, where license prevailed. An application for a writ of certiorari against the town council has been filed in the superior court by William Dougherty, who asks the court to quash a liquor license granted by the council to Owen F. Deady on Nov. 27.

Dougherty bases his application on an alleged indefiniteness in the application made by Deady for a license. He asserts that the application was for a license in "Dawley's block, Main street, Wyoming." Amos J. Dawley owns buildings on both sides of Main street and it turns out that the place for which Deady secured a license is within two hundred feet of Dougherty's property.

Judge Edward M. Burke held regular session of the Westery probate court Tuesday afternoon, beginning promptly at 2 o'clock. Edwin P. Deady, executor of the estate of Jennie McDermott, reported that the personal estate was not ample to pay expenses and the estate was adjudged insolvent.

In the estate of John A. Taylor, on petition for the removal of Emma Taylor as executrix, was continued to the first session in January. Judge Lewis, in the case of the estate of John Surber, submitted her first and final account, which was allowed for record.

The first and final account of Mary A. Rhodes, administratrix of the estate of William M. Smith, was received, allowed and ordered recorded.

Jennie Surber, administratrix of the estate of John Surber, submitted her first and final account, which was allowed for record.

Estate of Aquilina Paladeno. The inventory was received and ordered recorded.

Alexander D. Bell was appointed administrator of the estate of Mary Kistick Bell, whose personal estate will not exceed $2,500. The bond was fixed at $3,500. The appraisers are Charles G. Craig, John J. Kennedy and James Benzie.

Amos W. Brown gave general release to William H. Lewis, administrator of the estate of Charles C. Lewis, which was ordered recorded.

Elias W. Cross, guardian of the estate of Amos Case, petitioned for permission to sell interest in undivided land of his irresponsible ward for purpose of paying debts, for a sum not less than $500. The land is located in Narragansett. The petition was granted. Bond was fixed at $1,000.

In the estate of Diana Stanton, John C. Stanton was appointed guardian, decedent being a minor under 14 years of age. The estate is valued at $350 and bond was fixed at $700. These appraisers were appointed: Howard Pemberton, Thomas Chapman and William Chappin.

The petition of appointment of a guardian for Francis F. Haswell, alleged to be incompetent to manage his personal affairs, was considered. Mr. Lewis represented petitioner and Walter P. Dixon was counsel for Mr. Haswell, who is a well known resident of Westery. Mr. Dixon said that Mr. Haswell feared that he would be put into an insane retreat and did not want his wife appointed as his guardian. Mr. Haswell is a man of considerable means and such incarceration would be detrimental to his business interests.

Judge Lewis declared that Mrs. Haswell had been a faithful and hard-working wife and her children are favorable to the appointment of Mrs. Haswell as guardian. He advocated her appointment or the son, Frank, as guardian.

Attorney Dixon said he was not inclined to interfere in any way in the affairs of the family, but that he simply appeared at the request of Mr. Haswell and would not insist in opposition to the appointment of Mrs. Haswell as guardian if the other members of the family were favorable.

Mr. and Mrs. Haswell have been wedded just fifty years. Judge Burke appointed Mrs. Haswell as guardian. The bond was placed at $10,000, with surety to the satisfaction of the clerk. James M. Blake, Walter Havens and Joseph Fraser were appointed appraisers.

The regular December meeting of the Westery board of trade was held Tuesday evening in Town hall. President Charles Perry presiding, with a fair attendance of members. Clerk Albert R. Stillman read the minutes of the last meeting, which were approved. Thomas H. Bland and Max Nogroski were admitted to membership.

Chairman Perry explained that Frank W. Coy was appointed a committee to investigate the bolt and nut industry in Vermont that contemplated removal to Westery, but as Mr. Coy was subsequently injured, and could not make the trip, the secretary wrote and asked if negotiation was still open and received characteristic reply that Westery was too late, and that the industry would remain where it is.

Since the last session and while the shoe strike was on in Lynn, announcement was made that the manufacturers of the Sorosis shoe contemplated removal from Lynn. President Perry communicated with the company, and acknowledgment of the letter was received with the information that it would be filed for reference, together with the special inducements offered by Westery.

The matter of a sign, electric or otherwise, near the railway station, was considered. James A. Welch reported in favor of placing an electric sign in the top of the gas report, and that the Westery light and power company would furnish the electric lights, the sign to bear the words: "Westery Industries Wanted. Cheap Electric Power." The cost of the sign would be $175, and in size eighteen by six feet. M. H. Spellman, manager of the Westery light and power company, agreed to place the sign in position. The sign could be easily read either by night or day, and Mr. Spellman informed Mr. Welch that he would furnish the sign complete for $175, and if the board desired the word "electric" would be omitted.

Dr. John Champlin commented on the generosity of the Westery light and power company and seconded the motion made by Everett E. Whipple, that a sum not to exceed $200 be appropriated for the sign as proposed, and to be expended under the direction of James A. Welch, and the length of contract for light with the company be left at the discretion of Mr. Welch, for a period of five years.

Albert G. Martin favored adding to the sign the words, "Board of Trade," although it would cost more, and he would like to know if the members considered it worth more.

Ira B. Crandall did not consider it of any increased value to the sign to add the words "Board of Trade," favored brevity in a sign of this nature, as did also Dr. Champlin. The motion of Mr. Whipple favored.

ble to the securing of the electric sign was carried.

Charles Perry and Edgar Cottrell attended a meeting of representatives of business associations in New York relative to freight rates. Mr. Perry will make report in detail at next meeting.

President Perry announced that the annual meeting would be held in February and that the occasion should be observed in a way similar to a year ago. It was suggested that the entertainment committee get busy, and report at the next meeting a plan of observance by banquet or otherwise.
